

Reclaimed Pumpkin Pine

Reclaimed Pumpkin Pine is the desirable heartwood of the Eastern White Pine tree. Coloration ranges from a light blonde to a fine golden finish. Traditionally associated with the New England farmhouse, this unpretentious reclaimed wood provides an ambiance of warmth and comfort offered by few other species.

Once felled in near-entirety throughout New England and beyond, old growth Pumpkin Pine is now a particularly rare and coveted lumber – especially in the traditional wider-plank format.
